DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bullen, U. S. Patent 5,028,680.

Reference to Bullen specifically teaches the premature crosslinking of silane groups in polymers of the same kind as those claimed by applicants. This renders the groups "converted into un-hydrolysable groups" and, although 5% is not taught, it is prima facie obvious that that level was reached in the prior art.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for treatments with silanol or alcohol, although broad, does not reasonably provide enablement for any treatment which would render the silane groups un-hydrolysable. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to practice the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Prediction of effectiveness would require undo experimentation.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 2, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 2 contains preferred embodiments in a single claim and claims 5 and 6 refer to a "composition or process" when they depend from a composition claim. These factors render the claims indefinite.

7. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art is silent as to the treatment of hydrolysable silane-containing polymers with silanol or alcohol reactants to reduce premature crosslinking by blocking the hydrolysable groups. The claim is, therefore, both novel and unobvious over the closest prior art as cited.
